THEY KILLED EACH OTHER.

Two Business Men in Polk County Fight to the Death Because Their Children Quarreled.

(Tampa News, 12th.)

Mulberry, Polk county, was yesterday the scene of an exciting duel, which resulted in the death of both principals—B. Burnsed, for many years a resident of Tampa, and Robert Humphreys, who lived at Bradentown prior to removing to Mulberry. Humphreys died an hour after being shot, while Burnsed, who went to Mulberry several months ago, lingered until an early hour this morning.

For some time Burnsed and Humphreys have occupied adjoining stores, Burnsed conducting a meat market and Humphreys conducting a restaurant. They had no trouble until last week, and, on Saturday, engaged in a quarrel over their children, which yesterday resulted in Burnsed placing Humphreys under a peace bond.

Shortly after the bond was made, the two men met and, according to information secured by Sheriff Wiggins, of Polk county, Humphreys drew a 38-calibre Iver-Johnson revolver and opened first upon Burnsed. The latter coolly drew a Smith & Wesson revolver of the same character and returned the fire. When the fusillade of shots ended both principals were prostrate on the ground, Humphreys having sent a ball through Burnsed's body in the neighborhood of the liver, also one through his opponent's hand, while he was shot in practically the same place in the body by Burnsed. The two men were given surgical attention as quickly as possible, but both were beyond human aid.

Humphreys, from the statement of Sheriff Wiggins, appears to have been the aggressor throughout the difficulty, forcing the duel on Burnsed. Both men leave families to mourn their tragic death.

B. Burnsed had been a well-known character in and about Tampa for many years, having lived near Twenty-second street for a long time. He and his sons, Bob and Will, have frequently engaged in fights with other parties at and near the Seminole saloon, for which they have been arrested. In the difficulty that caused his death and that of his antagonist, however, he appears to have been in the right.

HAD TROUBLE WITH HIS GIRL.

And Shuffled Off His Mortal Coil in Tampa

Tampa, Nov. 11.—William K. Kersey, of the Kersey Lumber Company, Atlanta, Ga., committed suicide in his room at the Hillsboro hotel this morning by taking twenty-five grains of morphine.

Mr. Kersey left letters to his business partner, I. D. Campbell, 69 Neal street, Atlanta; to his father, J. W. Kersey, Dillon, S. C., and to Miss Francis Timmerman, of this city, and left a list of persons he wished notified of his death, including Atlanta newspapers.

When informed of the suicide of Kersey, Miss Timmerman, a pretty young woman, 17 years of age, fainted. They were to have been married several months ago, but Kersey was injured in a runaway accident in Atlanta, and when taken to the hospital asked friends to write Miss Timmerman and inform her of the accident.

The friends who were trusted to send the news to Miss Timmerman failed to do so, and when the wedding day arrived, and Kersey failed to appear, the girl believed him false and the engagement was broken off.

Kersey came to Tampa a few days ago, but failed to effect a reconciliation. This, it is supposed, caused the suicide. He lived only a short time after being found by hotel attaches in his room. The body is being held awaiting instructions from his relatives. Kersey resided at 67 Oglethorpe avenue, Atlanta; was 39 years of age and was a member of five secret orders.

WANT A SOUTHERN MAN.

Convention in Tennessee to Boom Southern Candidate for President.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—A state convention of Democrats here today inaugurated a movement for the nomination of a Southern man as Democracy's candidate for the presidency in 1908. Each delegate was instructed to work in the interest of sending a delegation from Tennessee to the National Convention that would vote first, last and all the time for a Southern man, and an address to the Democracy of the nation was issued.

Only one name—that of former Gov. James D. Porter—was mentioned in connection with the nomination. This was greeted with applause, but Gov. Porter, chairman of the convention, refused to countenance a discussion along such lines.

Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton University, was invited to address the convention, but declined. Gov. Patterson was a speaker and expressed hearty sympathy with the movement.

The address authorized by the convention declares that the Democratic party was born in the South; but that this subject is approached in so sectional spirit. It asserts that conditions that made available candidates from the East no longer obtain, and that recognition of a Southern man would emphasize the unity of the nation. The fidelity with which the South has adhered to the Democratic cause is pointed to to establish the assertion made that "the Democracy of the South is entirely free from the domination of corporate interest and predatory wealth."

It makes the claim that "In leadership, in war, statesmanship and literature, the South is not behind other sections, and at this particular time we have men equal to the best that the past has produced."

State University Notes.

Gainesville, Fla., Nov. 11.—The Athenaeum Club, a literary and social society, composed of members of the University faculty and of the Experiment Station staff, began with the college the third year of its existence. This club meets on alternate Fridays at 7:30 p. m., and adjourns, according to an article in the constitution, not later than ten o'clock. At every meeting a paper is read by some member, who has been given at least three months' notice. The delivery of the paper must not consume more than thirty minutes. Every person present at a meeting, whether member or visitor, has the right to discuss the paper in a five minutes speech, the discussion ending with a rebuttal of adverse criticisms by the reader of the evening. So far the club has met three times this year. The first paper was read by Prof. H. S. Fawcett, and was entitled "Some History of Plant Pathology." At the second meeting Dr. J. N. Fair read a paper on "Geoffrey of Monmouth." The third paper entitled "Nature Study in Schools," was read by Prof. John M. Scott. The next meeting will be held on November 15, when Lieut. L. R. Ball will present his views on "Our Philippine Problem." The papers have been uniformly of great interest, and have aroused spirited discussions. As Lieut. Ball has served in the Philippines, the next paper will undoubtedly prove most interesting. The same officers have served the club from its inception: Dr. Andrew Sledd, president; Dr. E. R. Flint, vice-president; Dr. C. L. Crow, secretary and treasurer.

The daily chapel exercises have been placed for the year in charge of the Committee on Public Functions. This committee has added interest to the morning services by organizing a quartett to lead the singing. The quartett consists of Dr. Schmidt, Lieut. Ball and Students Corbett and Rime. The accompanist is Student Jackson. The religious exercises have been conducted up to the present by Doctors Sledd, Yocum, Crow and Farr, Major Floyd, and the Rev. Mr. Craighill, each of the professors above named served a week at a time. In addition to the religious exercises, a twenty minutes' talk is made every Tuesday morning. These addresses have been made by Doctors Sledd and Crow, and the Rev. Mr. Nixon and the Rev. Mr. Craighill.

The student body is very much elated over the good showing made by the foot ball team. Hardly recovered from a victorious game with the strong and heavy team of Savannah, the eleven added fresh laurels to their brows on November 5 by defeating Rollins College in a very pretty and clean game. The first scoring, a goal from the field, was made by Rollins. In the first half Rollins seemed to outplay the University. In the second half, however, the University played with more snap and succeeded in making a touchdown and in dropping the ball over the goal from the field, thus making the final score 9 to 4 in favor of the University. The visiting team was entertained that evening by the students. According to her usual custom, Mrs. Farr presented a very handsome cake, marked "Football—Rollins vs. University," to the winning team.

C. L. CROW,
Chairman of Committee on Publicity.

Reason for Objection.

Fond Mother—Why don't you like your roommate at college, Reginald? The professor told me he would be a good companion for you, because he studies so hard.

Young Collegian—But, mother, he uses so many sesquipedalian words.

Fond Mother—That settles it, my son. I don't want you to be contaminated by association with anybody who uses such dreadful language.—Baltimore American.

MR. SHAW HAS REMEDY.

Former Secretary of Treasury Tells How to Make Currency Elastic.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11.—Former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie Shaw was the guest of honor and principal speaker at the annual chamber of commerce dinner here tonight.

In the judgment of Mr. Shaw the only weakness of the American monetary system is that the currency is non-elastic; that its volume does not respond to changing and the varying needs of trade. Mr. Shaw said in part:

"Had the national banks been empowered to issue additional circulation equal to 50 per cent of their capital without a deposit to secure its redemption, but subject to a tax of 5 per cent, an aggregate increase of $400,000,000 would have been possible, and $200,000,000 would very likely have been issued. The people would have carried to their safe deposit vaults or taken home for concealment a national bank note as readily as gold certificates, and they would have been just as safe.

"I do not believe it possible to make an elastic currency based on collateral security. It would be impracticable to have the government pass upon the solvency of commercial paper deposited as a basis of circulation, and the banks would find it quite as difficult to get bonds with which to secure a circulation as to get the money itself. There is no occasion for the increased issue until the banks have exhausted their cash resources, and when their cash resources are exhausted they have nothing available with which to secure currency but bonds.

"Of course, the banks should not be permitted to issue this uncovered additional circulation without the consent of the controller of the currency. By having the additional circulation identical in form with the bonds secured, which we now have, the issue would pass unnoticed, and therefore cause no alarm—a very important feature as I view it."
